

Good things happen when you get involved with PMI

Dear Luis,

Today is International Volunteer Day, a unique chance for organizations to celebrate the efforts of their volunteers, and we want to thank you for your valued volunteer service throughout 2017. The commitment and dedication you have contributed continue to shape the evolution of project management. It is because of your involvement and hard work advancing the profession we can proudly call PMI a "volunteer-driven" organization.

Congratulations on all of your accomplishments this year. Please accept this 2017 Volunteer certificate as a small token of our appreciation for a job well done. We sincerely appreciate all of your time and effort.

Please remember that if you hold a PMI certification, now is the time to report Professional Development Units (PDUs) for your 2017 volunteer activities. All volunteer PDUs are earned hour-for-hour up to the limit of the category and are self-reported using the CCRS.

On behalf of the global PMI staff—and your fellow volunteers—thank you for continuing to strengthen and advance project management. Best wishes for a successful 2018.
